1. What work has the team done toward the project this week?

We created a preprocessing script to convert our categorical data into numeric form. We researched some databases for census data of the City of Cambridge, and concluded that there are viable paths forward for getting enough data for each variable in the final product.

2. What work does the team plan to do next week?

Over the coming two weeks, we plan on creating data visualizations and writing a first draft of our analysis. From that point, we can evaluate which trends are the strongest.

3. Is the team having any issues?
